Surveyor 5 Is Off To Test Moon's Soil

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

Surveyor 5 carried a chemistry lab toward a soft-landing on the moon and millions of "astro-bugs" circled the earth today after a perfect doubleheader space launching here.

Spider-shaped Surveyor 5 started its intended 65-hour, 221,575-mile lunar journey aboard an Atlas-Centaur rocket at 3:57 a.m. (EDT) today.

Half an hour later, the flight control center reported the spacecraft was on course toward the moon and that all systems were operating.

The moon vehicle is to settle gently onto the moon's surface Sunday night to investigate a potential astronaut landing site with a camera and a miniature chemistry lab that may, for the first time, tell scientists what elements are present in the lunar soil.

The planned touchdown area is in the Sea of Tranquility 24 miles from the Crater Moltke, started at 6:04 p.m. Thursday when Biosatellite 2 and its cargo of more than 10 million insects, plants and bacteria rode a Delta rocket into an orbit about 200 miles above the earth.

During three days in space, the specimens are to grow, reproduce and eat to determine how biological processes are affected by space weightlessness and radiation.

The strange passenger list included parasitic wasps, vinegar gnats, flour beetles, pepper plants, wheat seedlings, frog eggs, amoebae and bacteria.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported some difficulty in sending radio commands to the Biosatellite. Officials said they were overcoming the problem by repeatedly transmitting each command until it is accepted by the payload.

The Biosatellite launching was delayed more than three hours by technical difficulties, including the late discovery that a switch—part of the parachute deployment system—had been installed backwards.

The wrong installation resulted because the blueprint for the system was drawn incorrectly, an official reported.

Both missions are to reach critical stages a few hours apart on Sunday. These are points at which the earlier Surveyor 4 and Biosatellite 1 payloads failed.

About 3 p.m. (EDT) Biosatellite 2 is to fire its retro-rocket and re-enter the atmosphere over the Pacific Ocean near Hawaii. An Air Force plane will attempt to snag the parachute as the payload descends. The retro-rocket failed on the first Biosatellite last December, ruining the flight.

About 9 p.m., Surveyor 5 is to ignite its braking rocket for the touchdown on the moon. All contact was lost with Surveyor 4 shortly after its rocket fired and moments before it was to land in July.

DEARBORN TEACHERS PICKET at Dearborn High School with school-opening plans in doubt in much of the Detroit metropolitan area. Schools Awaiting Ruling On Strikes

By JACQUELINE KORONA
Associated Press Writer

Michigan's teachers-school board disputes hung in a jumble of picket signs and legal maneuvers today as union and school officials awaited a landmark court decision.

Meanwhile, teachers picketed in many of the 30 school districts where contracts are yet to be signed. Nearly half a million youngsters — including 300,000 in Detroit — still were locked out of school.

A few youngsters picketed in Detroit. "We want the teachers to get their money, but we want to go back to school," one high school girl said.

The State Court of Appeals scheduled a hearing Saturday on the question of whether circuit courts can grant injunctions to force teachers without contracts into the classrooms.

Michigan's second highest court ordered an emergency stay early Thursday of an injunction in Detroit where many of the city's 11,000 teachers picketed.

Teachers are seeking a $2.00 boost in salary and a 28-week year, while the board has offered $800 and agreed to a 39-week year.

Ed. Gov. William Milliken said Detroit was "the state's most critical area. We (Milliken and state-appointed fact-finder Ronald Haughton) will review all aspects of the problem and try to determine the most effective action the state now can take to promote a settlement."

Mary Ellen Riordan, president of the Detroit Federation of Teachers, said the union has made no new offer to the Board of Education. "I don't expect we'll make an offer unless they do," she said in a television appearance. "And so far there is no indication one is forthcoming."

Spread

Unrest in the ranks of the nation's teachers widened today as the Baltimore school system was threatened with a strike. Detroit teachers remained out and New York City schools braced for a threatened mass resignation Monday.

More than 600,000 youngsters were already enjoying extended summer vacations in Michigan, Broward County, Fla., East St. Louis, Ill., and McCracken County, Ky. Strikes in Baltimore and New York could add nearly 1.3 million to that total.

The Baltimore teachers union said a strike could occur before the end of next week after negotiations with school officials broke down Thursday over bargaining procedures and non-teaching duties.

Several big Marine sweeps were under way in the northern provinces where nearly 700 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been reported killed in hard fighting since Monday around Tam Ky, on the coast, and below the demilitarized zone some 140 miles to the northwest.

American casualties in the area total 115 dead and 382 wounded so far this week, the U.S. Command said.

Although no significant action was reported from the area since Thursday, the Strategic Air Command kept up two-a-day raids by its high-altitude B52 bombers to aid the Marines.

Helps Children

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Paul Lowinger, associate professor of psychiatry at Wayne State University School of Medicine, has been appointed to the Committee of Responsibility, which plans to bring war-injured children from Vietnam to the United States for medical treatment.

McNamara Says Romney 'Blind To The Truth'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan said Thursday he would be delighted to compare his record on Vietnam with that of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Romney held a news conference in Portland before addressing a Republican fund-raising dinner.

McNamara had said in Washington that Romney "appears to be blind to the truth" in claiming the Johnson Administration put out inaccurate information on the Vietnam war.

Romney, considered an unannounced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said he was not sure whether McNamara was hiding the truth or just didn't know the truth in the secretary's earlier discussions on the war.

Romney created a stir in Washington and Saigon this week by saying he had been brainwashed by military men and diplomats when he visited Vietnam in 1965.

Romney told newsmen Thursday he has not changed his original support of the war.

He said he now thinks it was unnecessary for the United States to get involved in a ground war in order to keep Vietnam from becoming a satellite of Russia or China.

"We must find an alternative solution and a greater effort on the part of the South Vietnamese," he said.

Romney suggested two steps toward getting out of Vietnam—a continued limited military effort to destroy the guerrillas in the south, and helping the South Vietnamese build a strong nation.

He said the United States should help reach these goals "with the South Vietnamese playing a key role."

Reward Offered

MARSHALL (AP)—The Post Office Department has offered a $2,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person whose bomb-by-mail package led to the death of Mrs. Nola Pusey. She was killed Aug. 18 when the package, just delivered by a mail carrier, exploded as she opened it. Her husband Paul was injured.

Barrier To Cong Will Be Created By Soil Killers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chemical soil-killers will be used in South Vietnam warfare for the first time under the Pentagon's new plan to create a barrier against infiltrating North Vietnamese troops.

The Pentagon said earth-poisoning agents will be sprayed over the cleared barrier zone atop South Vietnam to prevent jungle growth from returning and providing concealment for invading Communists.

Introduction of the sterilants will add a new dimension—and perhaps a controversial one—to an already wide-ranging chemical program aimed at wiping out vegetation including crops in certain areas of South Vietnam.

Long Rumored

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced plans Thursday for the barrier—actually an early-warning zone sown with mines and electronic eyes and ears. He elaborated little about its operation.

Confirmation of the long-rumored move came at a news conference at which McNamara labeled Michigan Gov. George Romney, a Republican presidential hopeful, as "blind to the truth" in accusing the Johnson Administration of misleading the public about the war.

McNamara also announced: —The remaining two brigades of the 101st Airborne Division will be among the additional 45,000 men destined for the war zone by June 30.

—A new Army division, the 6th Infantry, is being created in January to offset troop deployments from strategic forces based in the United States.

—The Pentagon's open-housing program will be spread nationwide to end what he called "a shameful story of discrimination" against Negro servicemen. Housing sites near military bases which refuse to admit Negro servicemen will be placed off limits to all military men in those areas.

McNamara bared few details about the proposed infiltration barrier other than to say its components would range "from barbed wire to highly sophisticated devices."

The idea is not to block the southward flow of enemy troops—McNamara said that can't be done—but to slow infiltrators while electronic alarms alert U.S. commanders. Mobile American units could then be rushed by helicopter and tank to the point of infiltration.

If extended completely across South Vietnam below the so-called Demilitarized Zone, the tripwire zone would be more than 40 miles wide.

McNamara refused to say whether it would also cut across Laos through the jungle network of roads that make up the Ho Chi Minh trail, used by Hanoi to get men into South Vietnam.

Opponents of the barrier concept have said if the strip lies only in South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese will be able to make an "end-around" play to infiltrate the South.

Work already is under way to clear jungle from a stretch approximately 15 miles wide and 600 yards deep below the Demilitarized Zone.

Clear Jungle
The soil poisoners are to be used because military commanders have found that thriving vegetation starts growing back almost as quickly as bulldozers clear a strip.

In response to questions, the Pentagon said commercial farm chemicals developed and produced in the United States for such work as clearing railroad rights of way will be used on the strip. Specifically mentioned were two agents called chlorophenyl dimethyl urea and dichlorophenyl dimethyl urea. The Pentagon said the chemicals won't harm animals or people but will prevent plant life for about a year.

Lady Bird Plans Visit To Sylvania

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson is including a visit to the picturesque Sylvania Tract of Michigan's Upper Peninsula in a swing she will make Sept. 20 - 23 through several midwestern states.

The Sylvania Tract, lying near Ironwood, recently was acquired by the federal government and added to the Ottawa National Forest. It was sold by the family of the late Charles C. Fisher, a Detroit banker.

The date of Mrs. Johnson's Michigan visit was not disclosed by the White House in announcing she planned to see a variety of projects, ranging from downtown planning to community theater to the work of a young farm family in Wisconsin.

Although the states are important politically, the White House said the trip is not political, and Mrs. Johnson said in a statement that her goal is to visit "the great heartland of America — to see for myself one prime source of our vitality as a people."

She will visit Wisconsin, Minnesota and Indiana, as well as Michigan, and ride a river boat from Quincy, Ill., to Hannibal, Mo.

Hesitant

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Barry Goldwater said Thursday he would be hesitant about supporting Michigan Gov. George Romney for president because of Romney's claim he was "brainwashed" in Vietnam.

"I will agree we are not being told the truth about the war in Vietnam by the president and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara," said Goldwater.

The former Arizona Senator and unsuccessful Republican Presidential candidate in 1964, said that in his own talks with diplomats and generals in Vietnam, he never felt he was being brainwashed.

"Frankly, we can't understand why he made that statement," Goldwater said of Romney.

undecided candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, made the comments in a speech prepared for delivery before an Oregon GOP House fund raising dinner.

He attacked administration "credibility" and "truth" in connection with the Vietnam War, recent rising across the nation the increase in crime and Johnson's request for a 10 per cent tax increase.

Likening the administration to "the little boy who cried 'wolf,'" Romney said it has "sounded its store of credibility. Its words are now suspect. It has crippled its own capacity to motivate people and to provide leadership."

100,000 Casualties
Romney said Johnson told the people in 1964 that "We don't want our American boys to do the fighting for Asian boys."

"The people apparently believed this when they voted in 1964," Romney said. "But now we are approaching 100,000 American casualties in connection with the conflict in Vietnam."

"We have over a half million American boys tied down in a land war in Asia, with thousands more on their way to join them," he said, adding that "now, it's hard for Americans to know what they can believe about our involvement in Vietnam."

The governor charged that the credibility of the administration's commitment to law and order has suffered and accused Johnson of failing to live up to campaign promises that the full resources of the federal government would be used to help local officials ensure respect for the law and halt violence.

He said the pledge "proved hollow" for the people of De-

The match race at the Escanaba Yacht Club - sponsored event will be between Atty. Dean Shipman of Escanaba, the defending champion, and Menominee contender James Nyland. Gene Moore will sail with Shipman.

Shipman brought the trophy to Escanaba for the first time in 1966, climaxing a season of sailing competition among seagull skippers from Green Bay ports.

The races will be sailed starting offshore at the mouth of the yacht harbor and the course to be sailed will be determined at a meeting of the skippers to be held at 9 a. m. Saturday, said Jim Zimmerman, chairman of the EYC race committee.

Spectators are invited to watch the sailing races that will determine the trophy championship on the basis of two out of three events. The first event is set for 10 a. m. Saturday, the second at 1 p. m. Saturday - and the third (if necessary) will be sailed within one hour after the finish of the second event.

On Sunday seagull races - not related to the Henes Trophy event - will be sailed starting near the harbor entrance at 1 p. m.

A HANDFUL OF United Auto Workers pickets parade in front of gate four at Ford Motor Company's huge Rouge plant. Ford was paralyzed by the UAW strike that idled 160,000 workers in 25 states. No new contract negotiations were scheduled for this week. (AP Wire-photo)

Long Auto Strike Feared In Detroit

DETROIT. (AP) - There were several indications today that the United Auto Workers strike may halt Ford auto production for a long time as both sides stood firm.

And while the walkout by some 160,000 members of the auto workers union has halted Ford operations in 25 states, 1968 model cars rolled off assembly lines at General Motors and Chrysler.

No progress has been reported in negotiations that began July 11 at Ford and ended just after midnight Thursday when the strike began.

No new negotiations are planned although a subcommittee meeting is scheduled for Monday to work out a schedule for further bargaining.

Miles Apart

On the basic wage offer alone both sides appear miles apart. Referring to the big three proposal of Aug. 29, one top union bargainer said, "We could have gotten that same amount if we simply extended or renewed the present agreement."

The company says it has no immediate plans for making a new offer.

Although the strike may force production cutbacks in such automotive suppliers as the steel and rubber industries, the chance of government intervention appears slight at this point.

The federal government has never invoked the Taft-Hartley Act to halt an auto strike. Ford has only one major defense contract, a $91.4 million one for 42,000 jeeps from the firm's Highland Park, Mich., plant. A company spokesman said the government does not consider this production critical.

Ambitious Demands
Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, led Ford workers off the job for what he calls "the longest and most ambitious list of demands" the union has yet sought.

Since both Chrysler and General Motors refused union requests to extend current contracts, union members at the two firms are working, reluctantly, without a contract.

If and when a contract is reached at Ford, the union will use it as a pattern for a settlement at the other two companies.

As the Wednesday midnight deadline approached, both sides awaited with an air of equanimity that suggested they considered a walkout inevitable.

"It reminded me of the time a few years ago at one of the companies when we knew we couldn't reach an agreement by the midnight deadline," one veteran negotiator was quoted as saying. "But we had to sit there to play out the scenario. We had to make it look like we were trying for the benefit of the union members, the stockholders and the public."

Pickets Patrol
Union pickets patrolled Ford plants throughout the country with no incidents reported.

In Ohio, second only to Michigan in its Ford employees, Cleveland-area pickets sipped coffee, talked about negotiations, their gardens, football and weather.

Ford says its workers will be losing $5.2 million wages for every day they stay out.

The company will be losing its average daily production of 8,000 cars, 1,800 trucks and 144 tractors.

Ford dealers throughout the country have enough new cars to last a month, 85,000 1968 models and 175,000 1967 models, the company said.

The union is backing its strike with a $67 million fund which will be distributed at the rate of $20 to $30 dollars a week to each striker depending upon marital status and number of dependents.

Dealer's comments on the strike ranged from the very pessimistic by the Ford men to the optimistic from vendors of competitors' products.

Strike Hurts
"The strike certainly will hurt our company badly," said Dick Blosser, a Dallas, Tex., Ford dealer. "We have a total of 236 new cars on order through October and there's no guarantee we'll get any of those."

"Definitely it will increase our sales," said Chevrolet dealer Leonard Gossman of Detroit. "We ordered our full quota for September and we'd like to have more."

"I look for a drop in the whole industry, because people will be afraid to order," said Lincoln Park, Mich., Dodge Dealer John F. Wallace. "I feel we're in unfair competition now. I'd rather have the Ford strike settled."

The UAW last struck Ford in Oct. 1961, for 14 days. It was the union's first company-wide strike against Ford.

Talk Long Strike
Ford's percentage of the calendar year market rose from 26.60 per cent in 1960 to 28.53 per cent in 1961. But it dropped to 26.30 per cent in 1962.

Some union members are talking of a long strike.

"When we left on the midnight shift last night, our foreman was saying, 'See you after Christmas' or 'See you after New Year's day,'" said Leonard Johnson, a 22-year-old worker at Ford's Louisville, Ky., plant.

"It looks like a very long strike," Paul Schrade, UAW Western director, said in Los Angeles.

The union is demanding a substantial wage increase, payment of a monthly salary as the bases of a guaranteed annual income, equal pay for Canadian and American workers and improvement of pension programs.

The average worker now makes $3.41 an hour in wages or $4.70 an hour including fringe benefits.

The companies have offered to boost wages by 13 cents the first year of a three-year contract and to increase them by 2.8 per cent each successive year.

Douglas Fraser, director of the UAW's Chrysler Department, said that offer doesn't contain one red cent in new money.

St. Louis was the place to get outfitted for crossing the Plains more than 100 years ago.

Kennedy School Becomes Public System Facility

After 10 years of fighting to give the retarded children of Delta County a special schooling, members of the Delta County Retarded Children's Association can say "It was a hard fight but we won!"

Today the children attended a new John F. Kennedy School operated by the Escanaba Area School system with a qualified special education teacher who will be aided by the teachers who have been with these children for many years. The Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School Board will supply the funds from the special education millage that is needed beyond the 75 per cent of cost furnished by the state for the operation of this school for the retarded. No money from the public school budget will be used.

The Retarded Children's Association will give the new school to the Escanaba Area School District with one reservation, that if for any reason, its program should be discontinued the school will revert back to the Retarded Children's Association so that the children will always have a school to attend.

Due to the number of children attending this school and the availability of only one qualified teacher, Mrs. Meredith Kamerer, the Retarded Children's Association will continue to supply one teacher until another qualified teacher is available.

Even though the public school system will be operating this school the association will act as advisor, will be the school's Parent Teacher Association and will furnish special material and items needed for the children.

Tour Sees Mink, Trout, Berries

Delta County is more diversified in its agriculture than any other Upper Peninsula county and members of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce farm tour on Thursday afternoon had the situation impressed upon them.

They visited a Christmas tree plantation, a mink ranch, a farm pond and a strawberry patch. Last year the tourists visited a beef farm, and two years ago dairying and potatoes got the accent.

The tour was sponsored by the Chamber's Agriculture Committee and was arranged by Joseph L. Heirman, Delta County Extension director.

Christmas Is Market
The Christmas tree farm of Herbert and Bill Westlund of Rock is 3 miles north of Gladstone and by 1969 it will be marketing 10,000 trees a year, mostly Scotch pine. Herbert Westlund said it takes about 8 years to produce a Christmas tree and that it requires at least two and sometimes three shearings to get the desired shape and density.

The farm is retailing its trees in Chicago but when production reaches 10,000 a year the Westlunds will have to wholesale about 7,500 and will then retail about 2,500 yearly. They will be planting about 10,000 trees a year to replace the trees harvested.

Daniel Barron's farm east of Flat Rock was visited for inspection of its strawberry operation. The tourists saw 6 acres that produced berries this year and that has just been renovated in preparation for another crop next year.

Next to it was another 6-acre field planted last spring to produce a crop next July. Another 8-acre field nearby was being prepared for planting next spring, so Barron will have 12 acres of strawberries for harvest next year. Nearly all are self-harvested by persons who pay to pick their own berries.

$12,000 For Sprinklers
On Thursday Barron was applying fertilizer and today he was to irrigate with $12,000 worth of pipe and sprinklers that the tourists saw on the ground. "You can't think of growing strawberries commercially without irrigation," said Heirman.

At the Adolph Lippens farm at Flat Rock the tour inspected a farm fish pond which is a retirement hobby of the owner. Lippens was a St. Nicholas potato grower for many years. He hadn't fed the fish before the visit and they were ready to eat the Chamber guests by the time they arrived. The pond is stocked with brook trout and rainbows and they were leaping out of the water to get the feed as Lippens cast it.

"I've got 13 children married and 55 grandchildren," said Lippens "and I've got to have something for them to do when they visit me!" Daniel "Copper" Barron is a son-in-law, wed to Irene Lippens.

The group also got a wind-shield view of the large pond on the John Solis farm in Flat Rock, but time didn't permit a stop.

Automatic Minkery

Last stop was at the Bender Brothers mink ranch at Danforth. Frank and Kermit Bender guided the tour of their establishment, including cold storages for the mink feed, mostly smelt, and an automatic cooker where the food is prepared. With an automatic timer the food is cooked from 2 a.m. so that when work starts at 7 a.m. the food has been prepared and cooked, ready for distribution with an automatic cart, whose driver pushes a button to distribute a measured amount of food to each mink cage as the cart creeps through the mink shed.

Frank Bender said that for every 100 females kept for breeding purposes, there is a $10,000 investment, so if the goal is 3,000 females an investment of $300,000 is necessary. Mink are big eaters and grow rapidly, Bender explained.

At present the Benders are putting out 6,000 pounds of food daily and will be serving 8,000 pounds daily in a few more weeks. The young are born in May and are pelleted in November at the rate of 1,000 a day.

Duck Outlook Reported Good

Richard Branzell, federal warden, is like Santa's helper to the duck hunters. He's been up to Santa's home in the Far North and he reports that the duck hunt coming up should be pretty good.

There's a major worry, he says, Canada had the latest spring on record in the northern lands where the continent's ducks and geese hatch most of their broods and it caught the mallards and canvasbacks and killed their first broods.

Their second broods are still flightless and an early winter in the north would destroy them, said Branzell, who returned this week after 6 weeks of work in western Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan banding ducks for the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior.

A team of 50 men was employed on the live trapping and banding. Branzell and his partner banded 4,950 ducks, 375 of them in one day. Most of them were pintails. The next species by numbers were blue wing teal and mallards.

"All species except the mallards and canvasbacks look good," said Branzell and we should have a good season water in July over much of the Canadian prairie duck nesting grounds dried up earlier expectations of a larger duck flight. Late reports from field geologists indicate poor nesting success as a result of spring storms.

The word on geese is much better. Flights this fall should be equal to the good flights of 1966 and some will be better.

The wandering albatross, a game ducks may be less than in 1966. Rapidly disappearing often as wide as 11 feet.

Must Cooperate To Survive, Local Government Told

MACKINAC ISLAND—"Little governments" must work better and more cooperatively if they are to avoid such "drastic surgery" as super-counties and similar metropolitan consolidations, Arthur W. Bromage, University of Michigan professor of political science, said here today.

Bromage spoke at a workshop session of the annual convention of the Michigan Municipal League. He declared that proposals for sweeping consolidations in metropolitan areas and for elimination of many township and village governments are "politically unrealistic."

"Functional consolidation" offers a more practical and realistic opportunity for improvement of local government, he continued, and this trend is already under way. He cited multicounty health units and intergovernment sales and exchanges of services as examples.

Work Together
Local government, in which people can participate directly, bolsters the sense of local community and should be preserved, Bromage said. But local units of government within metropolitan complexes need to become more rational and efficient.

Bromage set forth a 10-point list of requirements for local governments to "rationalize their functions":

- 1—By intergovernment agreements to provide and receive services at a price.
- 2—By joint ownership or operation of certain capital improvements and services.
- 3—By keeping their own political processes able and goal-oriented.

County Airports
4—By more attention to training local employees.
5—By cooperative efforts in metropolitan councils such as the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

6—By having the courage to diversify the local tax base, as in the adoption of the city income tax.

7—By approaching issues of annexation and consolidation in specific areas without fighting just for the sake of preserving small jurisdictions.

8—By accepting the need for certain metropolitan authorities as the solution to such problems as mass transportation.

9—By going along with transfers to county jurisdiction where a function such as a local airport may be logically administered by a county or more than one county.

10—By demonstrating local capacity to solve social and racial problems within their own boundaries.

Housing Project Site Choice Goes To Commission

GLADSTONE—A three-acre site west of Gladstone's Wilderness Park on S. 4th St. was recommended Thursday by a U. S. planner as the location for a proposed 50-unit low-rent housing project.

William Draper of Chicago, a site development administrator, for the U. S. Housing Assistance Administration, made his recommendation to the Gladstone Housing Commission after touring proposed sites Thursday afternoon with City Manager H. J. Henriksen, architect Louis Berone of a Glen Bay and two members of the City Commission.

Henriksen said today that although the recommended site is not one of the three suggested by the city, it is near one of the originally suggested areas and was approved Thursday night by the Housing Commission.

The City Commission is expected to consider approval of the new site at its regular meeting Monday night.

The new site is located on 4th St. south of Dakota Ave., about three blocks west of Wilderness Park. Henriksen said it is owned by the city and is presently undeveloped.

It is hoped that bids on the project can be let this spring with completion scheduled in time for occupancy by the spring of 1969.

Should the Commission approve the site recommendation Monday, the City would be required to prepare additional site data and specifications before the project can proceed.

Sincerity Isn't Enough

This newspaper has received a contribution to its letters column from a U.P. parent who says "It seems to me that it's time for our communities to stand up for their rights and put the schools back under local control and interest. It has been proven many times and places that as small communities we can handle our local situations much more effectively and efficiently. In fairness to everyone, those who want to play, let them play. I think that if we have to live under the direction of one or two people, then it is time that we brought our boys back from Vietnam, as they are dying in vain."

There is a jumpiness in our country. People are restive, unhappy, uncertain. Our great affluence has sharpened the contrast for the people who have little and that's a part of it. And even those who have a lot want more. We have become immensely acquisitive. Our concern for others and for the nation has diminished. The inevitable result of this process is appearing in demands for ever higher wages, in higher prices and in dissatisfaction with the higher taxes that try to cope with these conditions at the government level.

The letter is a voice crying for return to old simplicities and a solution by community effort of sharing. The good will of such pleading recommends the pleader, but to rely upon it for remedy is hopeless.

For us to fall back on local resources in our effort to cope with school costs would be doing a cruel injury to the children affected. Many small communities have pitifully small incomes, measured on today's standards of affluence. This is not shameful nor immoral, but it is a hard fact of life in a country that puts a dollar sign on so many things.

Our hope of providing some rough kind of equality of educational opportunity rests on tapping the sources of large income as well as small. It flows in such huge rivers in some circumstances that to ignore it and hope that the villages and rural areas with their little trickles of income can compete with it is to deny the children in low income areas the most precious thing that their government can provide for them — a modern understanding of themselves and their world so that they can cope with its problems, become useful citizens and have happy lives.

There should be no thought that we should let the big cities or the well-heeled take care of their children and that we in the little cities and the rural areas with our smaller resources will care for our own with our own means. The inevitable result would be that we would have inferior teachers, inferior instruction, inferior children.

There are many trials and abrasions in modern living. In bringing us so many miracles of science it has brought us pollution and despoliation, trashiness, and a mass culture that has many fine edges. But it is an inescapable reality for us and while we can shape it and change it we cannot remove ourselves from it or from its influence.

Perhaps we have lost most our capacity for the development of leadership and support for it in this new society. There are so many factions, so many religions, so many diverse ideas about the economy, so many unions, so many government agencies that the people are almost never agreed fully on anything. Government moves more and more by coalitions — by support of groups on one issue. The groups change as the issues change, so that even in Congress we find the parties opposed on an issue and then find divisions within each party on the issue.

We all have the feeling of being out of touch with the powers that control our destinies and this breeds a cynicism, so that many persons say "Government is crooked" or "Government is full of fools." Actually it is full of able people who work very hard for good results, but they, in turn, feel that they have to dissemble at times because the plain truth won't do.

There is reason for the troubled view of things, but not reason for despair. We have moved past the point of objecting to school district consolidations, which was once a high water mark in our objection to change. Now we're at another major obstacle — the bill for public schooling today.

When we picketed at the motor plant for higher wages we started a chain reaction that has finally reached the schools. It's regrettable that it's tardy, because now the jump demanded is a doozy. The Detroit teachers asked a $1,700 pay raise across the board. They have come down to $1,200 but the city says it can only pay $600. The schools are closed and the kids are on the streets. This is a lesson that will be remembered by the children affected.

Bishop Frederic Baraga

New Biography Of Baraga To Be Published Sept. 10

A new biography of Frederic Baraga, "Shepherd of the Wilderness," by Bernard J. Lambert of L'Anse, will be available to the public on Sept. 10. The publication of the book precedes the January 1968 centennial of the death of the first Catholic bishop of Upper Michigan.

The tribune for the Cause of Bishop Baraga was convened recently in the court chambers of the chancery office in Marquette to open the process which, it is hoped, will ultimately end in the canonization of Bishop Baraga.

Within the past 10 years, sources of information on the churchman in Europe have been opened for study. Essential documents found in the archives of European missionary societies have been microfilmed by the Bishop Baraga Association. Most of them have been translated, classified and fitted into the sketch of Bishop Baraga's life. Written evidence must be provided for almost every moment of his life. Happily, says cause workers, such evidence is available from frequent reports made by him as a missionary priest, and then as the first bishop of Upper Michigan. Baraga sought funds from European countries to build churches, schools and provide help for the impoverished Indians of the wilderness. This information will be used in the processes of the cause.

Baraga was born in the Slovenian province of Austria, now a part of Yugoslavia, in 1797. After becoming a graduate lawyer, he renounced a substantial inheritance and began studies for the priesthood. Following his ordination in 1823, he spent the next seven years as a priest in his homeland, and then decided to be a missionary, in America, among the Indians of the lake country. From 1831-35 he worked among the Ottawas in what is now Southern Michigan. In 1835 he came to the Lake Superior area where he labored for 33 years among the Chippewas.

At LaPointe, (Ashland) in Wisconsin, he founded a flourishing mission and converted hundreds of pagans to Christianity. He spent eight years at this island station. During the years he worked among the Chippewas in this vast territory, he established missions at Fond du Lac and Grand Portage, Minnesota.

Having received several petitions from a fur trader, he took the time to visit L'Anse, Mich.

gan, in the spring of 1843. The prospects were so favorable that he made L'Anse his new field of labor and endeavored to find a replacement for himself at LaPointe. While at L'Anse, copper was discovered on the Keweenaw Peninsula and in the Ontonagon Valley. He journeyed to visit the miners and promised to see them regularly. He also traveled to Lac Vieux Desert to try to convince those Indians to settle on Keweenaw Bay. At L'Anse, he wrote, among other Indian works, a Chippewa grammar and dictionary. This volume was just republished.

In 1853 he was appointed Bishop of Upper Michigan by Pope Pius IX. After his consecration in the cathedral church of Cincinnati, Ohio, he journeyed to Europe for the second time in search of priests, money and supplies for the towns which began to dot the Lake Superior region.

From 1853 to 1866, Baraga resided at Sault Ste. Marie. From there he visited missions in Canada, at St. Ignace, Mackinac Island and other places where Indian or white men settled.

As the Sault became more moved from the center of activity due to increased copper mining ventures and the discovery of iron ore on the Marquette Iron Range, he decided to locate at Marquette. He made the change in the spring of 1866. By this time, his health had begun to deteriorate and less than two years later he died. Because of his heroic life, it was decided to immediately begin work so that he could one day be canonized a saint.

Bernard Lambert, author of the new book on Baraga, will be honored at a tea on Sept. 10th from 2-5 p.m. at the K of C Hall, L'Anse. This event is sponsored by the Sacred Heart Altar Society and at this time, autographed copies of "Shepherd of the Wilderness" will be available.

The new biography of Frederic Baraga was printed by the Book Concern of Hancock, Mich., and can be purchased from book stores, local altar societies or the author.

The name "wonder bids" has been applied rather scathingly to the set of weak bids so popular today among our leading players. The modern expert uses weak twos and weak jump overcalls as a matter of course. Any other weak bids he uses are a matter of his style and there are plenty to choose from.

We use some weak bids ourselves but have never been so completely sold on them as to believe that they are invincible. Skillfully used, most of them give their users an advantage. Unskillfully used they are likely to bite back at you.

One "wonder bid" is the Michaels cue bid invented by the late Mike Michaels. It is usually used over minor suits only and shows both majors. It may be strong but it also may be quite weak.

South was using this bid for the first time and decided that his hand called for a jump to three hearts. The hand would support a strong bid over a real cue bid and North expected South to show up with a better hand.

Not that North bid cautiously. South could have a pretty good hand but West might be on lead with the ace and king of diamonds. But North did know he had a mighty good hand for his Michaels cue bid and that it seemed to be a good time to forget science, bid a slam and hope for the best.

We would like to report that South went down but we have to stick to the facts. South wasn't happy with the heart lead but he decided to make the best of things. He won East's jack of hearts with the queen and promptly led a spade. West's jack fell to dummy's queen and South breathed easier. When both opponents followed to the ace of hearts it was just a matter of mopping up. South played a heart to his ten and led a second spade. West dropped the king and South wound up with six spades, five trumps and the ace of clubs.

The anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth on Feb. 12, 1809, recalls one of the world's most remarkable prophecies. Shortly after his birth, a 9-year-old cousin had a peek at the new addition to the family. Gazing on the wrinkled infant Abraham, the cousin exclaimed, "He'll never come to much!"

Ann Landers

Again, A Big Mouth Needs Check Rein

Dear Ann Landers: You keep telling wives to "forgive and forget" and then you always add, "If you are wise you will never throw it up to him. Never mention it again."

I KNOW this is wonderful advice, but I just can't keep my big mouth shut.

My husband became involved with a very good-looking woman at work. He said he became fascinated with her and lost his head. This woman is a beautiful Chinese, a devout Catholic, and married to a Mexican who won't work. They have five children. He admitted everything (after I caught them) and promised it would never happen again.

Well, things were perfect for two days and then me and my big mouth — I ruined everything. I made an uncalled for remark about his carrying the "ecumenical spirit too far." He started to move out but I begged him to stay. I promised never to bring up the subject again. That was yesterday. So far, so good, but I live in fear that I will lose my temper again and spoil everything. Why can't I be like those women who keep their mouths shut and live happily ever after? Please tell me the secret. — TALK TOO MUCH

Dear Talk: There is no secret. It's one of the best-known principles of successful human relations. If all of us said everything that came to our minds, no two people in the world would be speaking.

When you feel yourself getting hostile, walk out of the room and go to something that requires physical energy. Scrub a floor. Wash a wall. Beat a rug.

Dear Ann Landers: I read the letter from the girl who said she had problems and no one to talk to. She also said she hoped you wouldn't suggest her favorite teacher because she had gone to her so many times that she didn't want to bother her any more.

I also had problems. Things were going very badly at home. I couldn't get along with my parents and I felt like an outsider. My attitude toward life was sour and pessimistic. One of my teachers noticed that I seemed depressed and out of it. She asked me to stay after school so we could talk. Before I knew it, I was pouring out my heart to her. She was so kind and understanding. She gave me encouragement and hope and helped build my confidence.

From then on I knew I had a friend. I went to her often and we talked over many problems. She was always willing to listen, no matter how busy she was. I don't think I would have made it if it hadn't been for her. Please print this letter. I'd like her to know how much she is appreciated. — GRATEFUL

Dear Grateful: Here's your letter. I am not printing the name of your city because I am sure there are hundreds, maybe thousands, of teachers who have earned your laurel wreath. To those of you who owe a debt of gratitude to a teacher who has helped you over some rough spots, why not sit down and tell her or him? It would mean a great deal — and it might encourage these teachers to continue to help other young students who are stumbling in the wilderness.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Copyright 1967, Publishers-Hall Syndicate

Police Trained To Use Breath Test On Auto Drivers

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State Police and local law officers are being trained to use breath-testing equipment in preparation for the state's new implied consent law, which takes effect Nov. 2.

Col. Frederick E. Davids, State Police director, says weeklong training sessions are underway at Michigan State University under direction of department of health, traffic safety and law enforcement specialists.

Under the new law, passed by the Legislature last July, licensed drivers will be required to submit to a breath, blood or urine test if suspected of drunk driving.

If they refuse, they will be subject to an administrative hearing before the Department of State to show cause why their license should not be suspended or revoked.

Davids says the State Police have 25 breathalyzers, breath-checking devices, and plan to obtain a total of 65 — one for each of the department's 59 posts plus several spares.

The breathalyzer equipment selected has been used throughout the country for several years and its reliability has been tested in court Davids said.

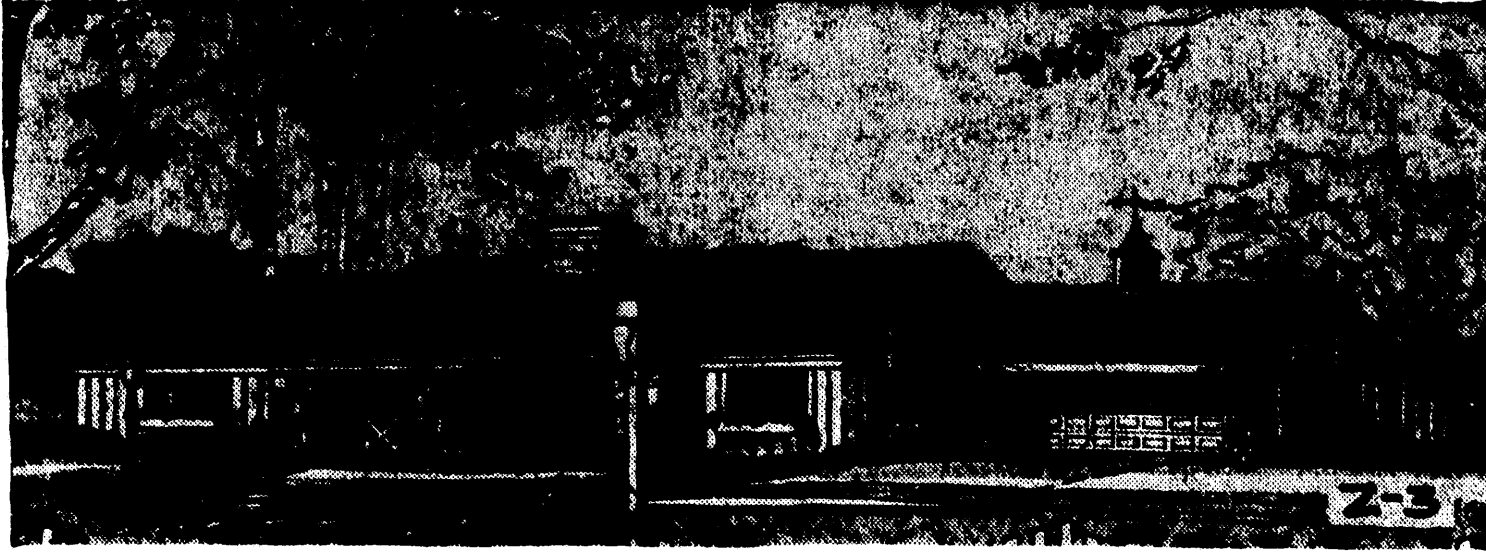

Plans call for breath checks to be made at State Police posts.

Dow Announces Some Price Hikes

MIDLAND (AP) — The Dow Chemical Co. has raised prices on seven groups of products "to compensate for higher production and transportation costs," the firm announced Thursday.

The company raised prices on a group of cleaning solvents, three bromide compounds, glycerol, the USP grade of propylene glycol, epsom salt, several antibacterial agents and two grades of calcium chloride.

The price of vinyl bromide was cut from 77 cents to 48 cents a pound "in an attempt to spur broader use," the company said.

HOMEY COLONIAL: Pleasant lines of this one-story Colonial exude friendliness and warmth typical of old-time home of this type. Inside, modernity takes over, with open planning and other features in demand in this day and age plus an unusual rear porch enclosed on three sides.

Unusual One-Story Colonial

By ANDY LANG

A modified "U" plan permits the rear of this one-story Colonial to be used for easy living.

By placing a porch 35' long inside the "U", so that it is enclosed on three sides, architect Rudolph A. Matern has provided an outdoor relaxing and dining area with built-in privacy.

The porch, at the rear of the Design Z-3, a one-story Colonial, has a living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, foyer, three bedrooms, three baths and a service area, with total habitable space of 1944 square feet. There is an inset porch, a two-car garage and an optional pool. Over-all dimensions, including the garage and porch, are 35' 6" by 39' 3". The house has an unusual amount of storage space for a structure in which all the rooms are on one floor.

clude a swimming pool in the area, the porch affords an ideal place to view the water play or for the swimmers themselves to rest. In either case, the big plus is the privacy that the location of the porch insures.

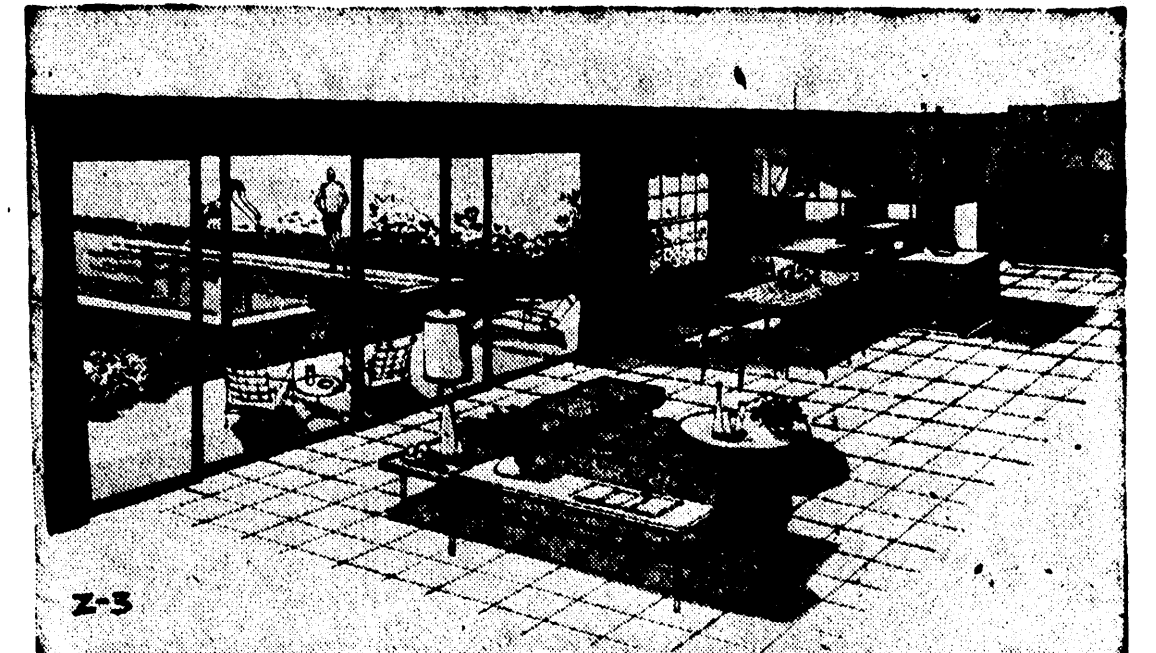

The family room has a fireplace utilizing the same chimney as the fireplace in the living room. The latter room is sunken and offers a view of the street through the bowed window at the front of the house. To the left of the living room is the dining room, also accessible from the kitchen. It has a built-in dish closet.

The front entrance is weather-protected by a two-foot recess and the roof that extends beyond. A somewhat formal foyer has splayed corners for an interesting octagonal shape. From here, traffic is efficiently split to the three main areas of the home — the formal, informal and bedroom sections. A full bathroom is located just around the guest closet and can serve as a guest powder room. The water closet is recessed out of the way of other facilities.

Down the bedroom hall is the second of three bathrooms in the house, located in the master bedroom. All three bedrooms have ample closet space, with the master room having a double set of closets. There is access from this main bedroom to the rear porch. Noise infiltration between the bedroom wing and the rest of the house, always a problem when all the rooms are on one floor, is held to a minimum by the sound buffers of closets and baths specifically located for this reason.

The service end of the home, at the rear right, is well-equipped, with all space utilized to the utmost. Within a very compact area are the following: outdoor storage, garage storage, bath with shower at rear door (especially good for pool use), hall storage, doors to outdoors, door to garage, miscellaneous storage, stair to basement, the laundry and the door to the kitchen. River Trip Runs Into Troubles

EAST JORDAN (AP) — Parker Siler's attempt to paddle his 12-foot "sternwheeler rowboat" down the Mississippi River to New Orleans has been temporarily derailed at Dubuque, Iowa. Siler, back home for his parents' golden wedding anniversary, said someone got aboard the "Cherrie Belle" while tied up and swamped it, sending his gear to the river bottom and damaging the boat. Siler intends to complete the journey after repairs are made. He left St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 8.

There are 14,400 scientists in New York City, according to a recent survey.

80 Billion Hot Dogs Can't Be Wrong

DOG DAYS GONE, BUT HOT DOG ONES: America's youth ate many hot dogs last summer, but they are not by far the last ones of the year. When the wonder of the hot dog first struck the world — on the beach of Coney Island in 1871 — the tasty little animal was strictly for summer munching. Then, in 1906, the hot dog was married to the long bun to keep dainty lady hands from getting greasy at the St. Louis Exposition. Now hot dogs are devoured the year around, an average of 80 by every American. This links together an estimated 80 billion of the delicacies (enough to stretch a couple of times to the moon and back.) Actually, though, franks are only the second favorite food for young Americans. Hamburgers are first. And, though a few more were eaten last summer due to thronging beaches or attending sporting events, many more will be devoured during the coming three-quarters of the year, mostly with mustard, next relish, then sauerkraut. How do you recognize a hot dog? The official Hot Dog specifications provide this description: 5 1/2 inches long; 3/4 of an inch wide; sometimes all beef but more often 60 per cent beef, 40 per cent pork; also boasting iron, B-vitamins, lots of proteins and 146 calories.

A MOUNTAIN OF POTATOES: Our country's per capita consumption of potatoes, after some year's wane (calories?), is now experiencing a happy rise, again. Chips, shoestring, French fried, frozen and other modern varieties (largely unknown to pop and mom — who were brought up on the lowly, painfully peeled, natural "spud") are now big. Who engineered this cataclysmic culinary revolution? — by fearlessly swamp-ing them in ketchup... then gorging them down.

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

THINK YOUTH IS IN THE TOP GROOVE. NOW? Then hear this... from Hollywood. Old-time big-timers in movies remember that almost beardless boys ruled the lots in the birth period of films. Once Samuel Goldwyn almost fired a writer, 31, for being too old. The originator-genius of the silver screen, D. W. Griffith, was in his twenties when he filmed the all-time masterpiece, "Birth of a Nation"... and Charlie Chaplin chalked up a chipper 24 at the time of his first great comedies... We bet if it had happened today — they'd be even younger.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL: Since World War II the United States has had a raft of new "growth industries"... But now an old one, education, tops them all, says Uncle Sam. This coming 1967-68 education year, well over 60 million schoolsters will jam public, private and college classrooms... while over two million teachers will face the terrors of teaching them. Among 14 to 17-year-olds, 93 per cent will enroll in high school... among 18 to 24-year-olds, 28 per cent in college. Almost three million teen-agers will earn high school diplomas... about seven hundred thousand teen-agers, college degrees. Public school expenditure per pupil will run $661. Payout for all U. S. education will amount to 7 per cent of the gross national product (twice the percentage for the previous generation)... and, by the year's end, will have piled up a grand total of $50 billion.

Car Production Slips This Week

Nicklaus Rests Before Big One

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus' gigantic shadow will grace the Firestone Country Club Friday in the unofficial practice round for the 36-hole World Series of Golf beginning Saturday.

Nicklaus, who has made the tournament his personal jackpot, was not around earlier in the week while his three rivals were exploring the 7,180-yard layout with a demanding par of 35-35-70.

Nicklaus, the U.S. Open champion, Roberto de Vicenzo, winner of the British Open; Masters champion Gary Brewer, and PGA titlist Don January will be shooting for a top prize of $50,000 in a showdown of champions.

Second place is worth $15,000, third $7,500 and fourth $5,000.

The World Series, a new experience for De Vicenzo, Brewer and January, is old hat to Nicklaus. Jack won the first World Series in 1962 and repeated in 1963.

The only year he missed was 1964 when the late Tony Leima won. Last year Nicklaus lost to long shot Gene Littler in a sudden death playoff.

In four World Series appearances, the Buckeye better from Columbus, Ohio, has earned $126,000. Currently Nicklaus is the leading money winner on the golf tour with $156,000.

However, a victory this weekend will not add to his official money winning total because the series, although sanctioned by the PGA, does not qualify as an official event.

While Nicklaus has been resting, De Vicenzo, Brewer and January have been practicing diligently.

"I never been this close to $50,000 before," said De Vicenzo, whose humor and wit coupled with a Spanish-flavored accent should make him the sentimental favorite with the gallery.

Brown Is Gone But Hopes He Won't Be Forgotten By Lions

DETROIT (AP) — Roger Brown may be gone, but his parting shot is likely to make him remembered—at least among his ex-teammates, the Detroit Lions.

"I hope I'm around long enough to hurt the Lions," said Brown.

That, he told newsmen, was how he broke the news to his wife that he had been traded Thursday.

In a move apparently aimed at rebuilding the Lions' sagging National Football League club, the Lions sent the 300-pound defensive tackle to the Los Angeles Rams.

The Rams return three future draft choices—No. 1 choice in 1967 and two "exceptionally high" choices in 1968, the Lions said.

Brown, 30, Detroit's No. 1 draft choice in 1960 after college football at Maryland State, played seven seasons at Detroit, but injured his left knee three years ago and underwent corrective surgery last February.

"They kept me out of the Denver and Baltimore games because they told me they didn't want to risk hurting my knee," Brown said. "I figured they were looking for a good year out of me. Now this."

"Shocked? You better believe it," he said. "Everything had been going well in practice. I lost 35 pounds, more than I ever lost. I wanted to play for Joe Schmidt just like all the other players do."

Schmidt, Lions' new head

CHANGING HIS PACE is Stirling Moss, former British racing great. Moss is more used to Grand Prix cars than he is to go-karts. But he figured he'd try it anyway.

Aroused Illinois Has Ingredients For Big Season

Another in a series of Big Ten football prospects.

By JERRY LISKA

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The ingredients are there, a revenge motive, zeal and a superb passing combination — for a Big Ten football resurgence by scandal-ridden University of Illinois.

"It's a closed book — there's no use beating a dead horse," said new Illini Coach Jim Valek when questioned about reaction to the school's punishment for disclosing its $21,000 slush fund case last winter.

But the holdover Illini, understandably, still are burning.

Valek, former star Illini end, was drafted from an assistant's job at South Carolina when the Big Ten forced resignation of Pete Elliott. Other sanctions included an NCAA barring of Illinois from Rose Bowl appearances for two seasons.

Valek inherited 23 lettermen and a dozen starters from Elliott's 1966 club which generally was tabbed the Big Ten team to watch in 1967.

Those holdovers were angered when Elliott was forced to quit and further incensed when the Rose Bowl was denied Illinois for two years.

Thus Valek has a team with a built-in incentive, to come off the ropes good, like a chastised avenger should.

Illinois, which does not play defending champion Michigan State in its seven-game Big Ten schedule, may have one of the nation's best passing tandems in quarterback Bob Napolitano and tight end John Wright.

Wright, a speedster son of the Illini track coach, has been among the country's leading receivers for two seasons.

With the new punt rule accentuating the possibility of long-gamers by punt receivers, Valek plans to use Wright also as a punt-returning back.

"Unless opponents double team or triple team Wright as a receiver, we'll be throwing the ball to him a lot," said Valek. "That's the best way to get back those quick six points that young defensive backs may cost you."

Valek was referring to his biggest problem, defensive secondary.

Two sophomores, Charles Bareither and Bob Bess, are slated for defensive back duty when they recover from recent emergency appendectomies.

Meanwhile, Valek shifted to the defensive secondary two established stars, his team co-captains. They are offensive halfback Ron Bess, Bob's brother, and defensive end Ken Kniece.

The strong running Ron Bess may have to play both ways with veteran Cyril Pinder among the athletes dismissed as a result of the illegal Illini fund and only Bill Huston and Fullback Rich Johnson back as seasoned ball-carriers.

Brown frequently was in trouble with Detroit coaches over the years because of his weight. On a "must" diet, he trimmed from 323 to 290 pounds this year.

His departure put another gap in what once was known as Detroit's fearsome foursome. Defensive end Sam Williams went to Atlanta in the expansion draft. The other two members of the frightening front, Alex Karas and Darris McCord, remain.

Brown will be joining a more recent fearsome frontline, however—the Rams' David Jones, 255 pounds; Merlin Olsen, 280, and Lamar Lundy, 260.

Los Angeles picked Brown to replace Roosevelt Grier, the 287-pounder who suffered a torn right achilles tendon last Friday in the Rams victory over Kansas City.

Grier is out of action indefinitely, although he says he expects the cast on his foot to come off in four weeks.

Asked what would happen if Grier returns to action, Rams Coach George Allen said, "that's simple. We'd have three of the finest tackles in football. I wouldn't even discount the possibility of our going to a fearsome livesome."

"It's just what I've been looking for! Do you have the same thing in salmon pink?"

In This Corner

With RAY CRANDALL

John Knispel, former head football coach at Menominee, has been directing Maroon grid drills this week in the absence of the regular coaching staff which has not signed teaching contracts as yet. Knispel, now an assistant principal, is being assisted by Bill Caley and John Gregory, former Menominee athletes, and Paul Thomsen, ex-Marquette star.

The 12th annual Upper Peninsula high school cheerleading clinic will be held at Northern Michigan University Saturday. Newt Loken, gymnastic coach at the University of Michigan, will be in charge. The clinic is open to all high school cheerleaders free of charge with registration at 9 a. m.

Iron Mountain Credit Union, Upper Peninsula Class B softball champion, dropped two straight games in the state tourney at Okosko. Credit Union was nipped, 2-1, by Scottville in spite of a one hitter by veteran Carl Lemm. Bill's Tap eliminated the Iron Mountain team, 4-2, in its second start in which Bill Uren pitched a three hitter.

Jim Marinneau retained his Little River Country Club men's championship by defeating Dennis Menard, 6 and 5, in the finals at the Marinette course. Marinneau scored a hole in one in a semifinal match against Dave Ankley, dropping his tee shot on the 190 yard No. 15 hole with a 4-wood. Fred Stubenvoll, Marinette High School senior, also scored a hole in one on the 125 yard No. 17 hole.

At the Riverside Country Club in Menominee Willie Thomsen edged Wayne Larson, 1-up, for the men's championship. Thomsen is a four-time former Upper Peninsula titlist.

Bessemer halfback Dan Corullo punched out three touchdowns as the Speed Boys trimmed Calumet, 33-6, in a non-conference contest last week. Bessemer competes in the Michigan-Wisconsin Conference while Calumet is a member of the Copper Country loop this fall.

After battling to a 0-0 standoff in the first half, Ironwood exploded with an 81 yard touchdown pass on the third play of the third period and added another TD with 50 seconds remaining in the game to clip Wakefield, 12-0. Ray Batsman and John McKesh hooked up for the long bomb and Mike Shea plunged one yard for the second score.

The upstart Beaver Falcons won the Wishtigan baseball league playoff title by topping Peshtigo, 4-2, in the third game of the series. Beaver pushed over all four of its runs in the first inning and held on as Gary Camps and Carl Porior teamed up for a two-hitter against the Indians.

Marquette, one of Escanaba's future grid foes, displayed a formidable defense while nipping Chilton, 7-0, last week. The Marines limited Chilton to 23 yards rushing and 71 passing. They scored their lone touchdown in the third quarter when fullback Bruce Magnuson scooped up a fumble and went 10 yards to paydirt.

Pro Gridders Open First Full Weekend Of Action

The American Football League presents its first full schedule of regular season play this weekend while Detroit is at St. Louis tonight in the start of the National Football League's final series of exhibitions.

The AFL opened its regular season a week ago, Denver taking Boston 26-21 in the only game, but has its first full, four-game schedule starting Saturday. Defending champion Kansas City is at Houston and Boston is at San Diego, both at night, Saturday. New York is at Buffalo and Denver is at Oakland in day games Sunday.

The NFL offers eight games, six of them Saturday night, with singles games Friday and Sunday in the close of exhibitions that is certain to push pre-season attendance past the two million mark. The NFL opens regular season play the following weekend.

Saturday's schedule has Atlanta (2-1) at New Orleans (4-1); Baltimore (5-1) at Dallas (3-2); Chicago (1-3) vs. Philadelphia (4-1) at Memphis; Kemp, The Bills' nationally; New York (1-2) at television game with New York Green Bay 5-0; Pittsburgh (2-2) is the first of a four-game home vs. Washington (3-1) at Norfolk, stand. Buffalo beat New York

Va. and San Francisco (2-2) at Los Angeles (5-0); Cleveland (0-5) is at Minnesota (2-2) Sunday in a nationally televised game.

The Chiefs, odds-on to repeat as AFL champs, have virtually the same team back that dominated the league last year. The major change has defensive halfback Fletcher Smith replacing injured Fred Williamson. Len Dawson, who sat out the final exhibition game, will start at quarterback for the Chiefs, who beat Houston 24-9 in an exhibition match. Jack Lee will go for Houston.

San Diego has two doubtful flankers Lance Alworth and Alworth, still is troubled with a bad back, while Hadl has severe leg bruises. Back up quarterback that is certain to push pre-season attendance past the two million mark. The NFL opens regular season play the following weekend.

The Broncos picked off six of his passes. Buffalo has settled on trade acquisition Tom Flores as its No. 1 quarterback over Jack Delaney at Memphis. Kemp, The Bills' nationally; New York (1-2) at television game with New York Green Bay 5-0; Pittsburgh (2-2) is the first of a four-game home vs. Washington (3-1) at Norfolk, stand. Buffalo beat New York

Four Area Grid Teams To Play Home Games

All four area high school football teams will be on display before hometown fans this weekend.

The slate opens tonight when the Manistique Emeralds take on Sault Ste. Marie in a Great Lakes Conference contest at Manistique. Coach Rick Larson's gridders will be shooting for their second straight victory, coming off an impressive 34-14 opener against Ishpeming.

Two Great Northern Conference games will be played in Escanaba Saturday afternoon, both starting at the same time. The Eskymos will host Menominee at the EHS gridiron and the Holy Name Crusaders will entertain the Kingsford drivers at the new field next to Holy Name High School. The kickoffs are scheduled for 2.

Gladstone makes its first home stand of the young campaign Saturday against the Newberry Indians.

At Escanaba, Coach Jerry Cvangros will go with the same crew that produced a solid 14-0 opening triumph over Antigo.

The Eskymo touchdowns were tallied by fullback Jim Olsen and wingback Ken Rotabile, a pair of juniors. Both will be in the starting backfield along with quarterback Steve Miketina and tailback Jerry Brazeau operating out of the I-formation.

Escanaba unveiled a rugged defense that blunted three Antigo drives in the season opener. "We'll go with the same crew on defense against Menominee's single wing offense Saturday," Cvangros said today.

Holy Name's young team got its baptism under fire at Iron Mountain last week and Coach Tom O'Neill expects his gridders to benefit by the lesson Saturday.

Iron Mountain exploded from the starting gate to score two touchdowns in four and a half minutes against Holy Name, then held on for a 19-7 decision.

Chris Young was a bright spot in the Holy Name running game and Dave Buckland handled the quarterback chores in commendable fashion. Both will be back in starting assignments along with halfbacks Daryl Prey or Steve Houle and Dan Young or Pat Verhamme.

"We came through the game with a minimum of injuries and should be at peak strength physically this week," O'Neill stated.

Kingsford fashioned a 33-21 nonconference victory over Marquette in its opener last week.

Coach Don Pfotenauer's Gladstone gridders will be shooting for No. 2 in the victory column after disposing of Gwinn, 20-0.

The Braves had a good workout in the game with Pfotenauer giving all his hands a shot at the action. The Gladstone TDs were tallied by Dan Pepin, Steve Nelson and Rick Lorensen. The trio will be back in action Saturday against the Indians who were nipped by Munising, 6-0, in their first start last week.

The Wolverine Conference, an eight-man football league, will open its season Saturday with Rock hosting Pembine and Powers-Spalding entertaining Bark River-Harris.

Lonborg Tosses Three-Hit Gem; Twins Also Win

By The Associated Press
Jim Lonborg, down about 20 pounds from his normal weight, says he's a little tired. The New York Yankees, down about 20 games from their normal position, are not impressed.

Lonborg, the ace Boston right-hander, threw his second three-hitter against the Yankees in nine days Thursday night, leading the Red Sox to a 3-1 victory. Minnesota, beating Baltimore 4-2, remained in first place in the American League, one percentage point over Boston.

The victories shattered the virtual four-way tie as Detroit and Chicago, idle Thursday, fell half a game off the pace.

Lonborg's victory over the Yankees, now mired in ninth place 17½ games off the pace at a time when they're usually running away with the flag, was all but a carbon copy of the one in New York on Aug. 29.

In both cases, the score was 3-1. In both cases, Lonborg gave up only three hits. In both cases, a home run by Tom Tresh spoiled the shutout.

In the National League, St. Louis crushed New York 9-2. San Francisco shaded Houston 3-2 in 15 innings. Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 3-1. Pittsburgh took Atlanta 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs nipped Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings.

"I think I'm a little tired," Lonborg said when his 19th victory was in the books. "It's been a long season for me. I started out weighing 215 and I'm down to about 195. But don't get me wrong, I'm not so tired that I can't contribute my share down the stretch."

The victory also was significant in that it was Lonborg's first complete game in Fenway Park since May 19. In 11 starts in Boston, Lonborg has finished only three games. He struck out 10 batters along the route this time, raising his league-leading total to 210.

Rico Petrocelli provided the power for the Red Sox, driving in two runs with his 14th homer and a double. Lonborg himself provided the other one with a ground-rule double.

The Twins hung onto their precarious lead with two runs in the eighth inning. Tony Oliva delivered a double that cracked a 2-2 tie and Bob Allison's single sent Oliva in. Dean Chance won his 18th game, stopping the Orioles on four hits.

Harmon Killebrew of the Twins hit home run No. 36 and Brooks Robinson hit his 20th for the Birds.

Wedding Day Spoiled For Chris Short As Reds Find Hit Range

By The Associated Press

The day was perfect for new-lwed Chris Short until the Cincinnati Reds crashed his wedding reception.

Short, Philadelphia's 29-year-old southpaw ace, took a bride Thursday afternoon, then pitched five perfect innings against Cincinnati Thursday night.

But Leo Cardenas' leadoff single in the sixth ended the hitless string. Tommy Harper poked another single, Tommy Helms walked and Lee May smacked a bases-loaded triple, ruining Short's evening and giving the Reds a 3-1 victory over the Phillies.

In other National League games, St. Louis clubbed the New York Mets 9-2 behind Bob Gibson, San Francisco nipped Houston 3-2 in 15 innings, Pittsburgh downed Atlanta 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs squeezed past Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings.

Minnesota defeated Baltimore 4-2 and Boston topped the New York Yankees 3-1 in the only games on the American League schedule.

Short married Marsha Hickling of Largo, Fla., in Valley Forge, Pa., after a dizzy whirl of wedding preparations that began Wednesday when the Phillies stepped off a plane from Atlanta.

Gibson, pitching for the first time since July 15, when a line drive by Roberto Clemente cracked a bone in his right leg, worked five innings and was credited with his 11th victory.

The Cards' ace was tagged for eight hits before turning over an 8-1 lead to reliever Larry Jaster, but said afterward the leg hadn't bothered him.

Dal Maxvill paced the Cards' 16-hit attack with three singles and a double while Roger Maris and Julian Javier connected for homers.

Bob Schroder singled with two out in the 15th inning at San Francisco, took second when Ken Henderson was nicked by a pitch and scored the winning run on Jesus Alou's single. The loss was Houston's eighth in a row. The Giants have won six straight.

Jim Hart's infield hit in the ninth knocked in the tying run for the Giants, climaxing a two-run rally.

Rename Konas Softball Chief

Clarence Konas was re-elected president of the Escanaba Softball Association at the annual banquet held Thursday night at the Mead Road and Gun Clubhouse.

Other officers named were Billy Smith, vice president; Bill Lancour, secretary - treasurer, and Carl Eastman and Bud Kennedy, directors.

Konas presented league and tournament trophies to Northtown Raiders, Merchants and Teamsters.

Paul Vardigan, acting city recreation director, outlined plans for future improvement of Memorial Field.

Sportsmanship trophies were presented to Joe Derkos, Mike Skourupski, Allan Larson and Dan Gouin.

Bowling Notes

The 7 p. m. Bowl-A-Rama Sunday Mixed duobles league will start the season Sunday, Sept. 17 with a short meeting at 6:30 before bowling.

No. 2 quarterback Coley O'Brien of Notre Dame tied a school record last season when he completed 21 passes against Southern California. John Huarte completed the same number against Stanford in '64.

Escanaba Pushes Airport Project

Federal Grant Key To Future

Findings and recommendations that may determine the course of development of the Escanaba Municipal Airport for the next several years were being explored today at "on the site" inspections and meetings in Escanaba.

Present for the airport tour and the meetings in the City Hall were representatives of the Federal Aviation Agency, the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, and the City of Escanaba and its engineers and architects.

The City of Escanaba called for the session after its application for federal funds for airport development had been cut from about $274,000 to $64,000.

Hopefully the city is asking that Escanaba's "case" be reopened and that federal funds be made available to finance the improvements necessary to update the airport facilities for jet age traffic.

In Jeopardy Here
The city's total project, which is proposed to be financed with state and federal help, calls for extension of the east-west runway from 5,000 to 6,400 feet and mark and light it; construction of a taxiway and apron; and construction of a new terminal building.

All that was granted by the federal finding was $64,000 for the run-way extension — but without the necessary taxiway and apron.

While Escanaba's request was cut back to the point where the whole program of development is jeopardized, Iron Mountain received a grant of $174,750 and Marquette a grant of $433,600.

Seek Scheduling
Here for the meeting today were James F. Popp, district engineer, Federal Aviation Agency; L. C. Andrews, assistant director, Michigan Aeronautics Commission; Wayne Colby, deputy assistant director; James Carr, chief of design; William Hamlen, chief of planning; Darrell Downey, chief of design; and Robert Bowles, construction engineer, all of the Aeronautics Commission.

They met with John Dulek, city engineer; Atty. John G. Erickson, city attorney; Kenneth Buckland, of Northern Michigan Engineers, the airport project engineers for the city; and Norman Arntzen, of Arntzen architects, Escanaba, who designed the proposed new terminal building.

"What we are trying to accomplish today is to get all of the answers we can to all of the questions that relate to scheduling the Escanaba development program," said Chief of Planning Hamlen.

Regional Status
Both Iron Mountain and Marquette airport appropriations were cut back in "considerable amount" at the federal level, Hamlen added.

Unlike Escanaba, however, their grants were sufficient to make for a workable improvement, while the cut for Escanaba would, as described by City Manager George Harvey, be unrealistic. "What good is a runway without a taxiway or apron?" he said.

Very much in the minds of all the men meeting here today (and in the thinking of most major U. P. cities) is the competition for jet-age facilities which may spell the difference between regional terminal or just "feeder status" in the years ahead.

North Central Airlines has announced that it will be all-out transport next year. The community in Northern Michigan that has the best fa-

Airline Puts On DC-9 Jets

North Central Airlines today inaugurated its new Douglas DC-9 jet service to 17 communities.

Displaying the company's "New Look" color scheme, the DC-9's will become a familiar sight over the airline's system of 10 Midwest states and Canada.

The cities initially receiving DC-9 jet service are Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Superior, Madison, Green Bay, Clintonville, Stevens Point, Wisconsin Rapids, La Crosse, Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Appleton, Eau Claire, Chicago, Port Arthur, Fort William and Ontario, Canada.

North Central President Hal Carr said, "We are pleased to introduce DC-9 jet service to many communities on our route system. The DC-9 is the answer to North Central's particular needs for an intermediate-range jet aircraft, and our passengers will now enjoy the speed and comfort of pure jet service."

North Central's first two DC-9's which began scheduled operation today are the newest commercial jetliners in the United States. Eight more of the 100-passenger aircraft are on order.

The DC-9's, combined with the Convair 580 prop-jets which North Central put into operation earlier this year, will give the company an all-jet-powered fleet in 1968.

Since inaugurating service in 1948, North Central has carried 15,300,000 passengers and flown 2,521,200,000 passenger miles without a single fatality or injury to passengers or crew members.

North Central serves 90 cities over a 7,000-mile route system.

No Delta Cohos But Some Coming

LANSING (AP)—"Fantastic" and "unbelievable" were a few of the descriptive phrases used by Wayne Tody to describe Michigan's first big weekend of coho salmon fishing.

"It was almost too good to be true," Tody, head of the Conservation Department Fish Division, told the Conservation Commission Thursday.

Manistee was mobbed by fishermen over the Labor Day weekend, Tody reported.

"Traffic jams were reported about 19,000 boat trips, he estimated. The weekend haul was estimated at 64,000 pounds of salmon."

"And this is only the beginning," Tody said. "It will get better between mid-September and mid-October when the fish start to run up the rivers."

He estimated fishermen could catch up to one million pounds of salmon in the first big run this fall.

"We're going to solve the alewife problem with salmon," Tody predicted.

All salmon caught have been found with alewives in their stomachs, he said.

Tody said it was estimated 200 million pounds of alewives littered Lake Michigan beaches during the summer.

"We figure lake trout and salmon will eat 85 million pounds of alewives next year out of Lake Michigan," he said. "It takes 150 pounds of alewives to grow a 15 pound salmon."

Clifford Long, Escanaba, district fish biologist of the Conservation Department, said that there's no immediate prospect of coho salmon fishing in Delta County streams, but that some is planned by the department for the near future. A lot will depend, he says, on this fall's collection of salmon eggs.

There has been fishing of an Alaskan strain of coho salmon in Thompson Creek in Schoolcraft County following a planting of 50,000 young cohos there in May, 1967. This run has decreased, says Long, in the last few weeks, but the steelhead run (lake running rainbow) continues there and provides fishing.

Best bet for Upper Peninsula fishermen who want cohos, says Long, is the Huron River in the western U. P., flowing into Lake Superior, where a large planting of cohos was made and where the salmon are now returning from the lake into the stream.

"We've tried chockers and found some of the salmon are already back in the stream," said Long. The Huron can be reached by way of L'Anse and Skanee.

Long said it would probably take a long time to get coho in local streams by natural means of the species, and the department isn't going to wait for any such benefit. But will push its planting program "I especially want to get them into Lake Bay de Noc and Big Bay de Noc," said Long. "The Whitefish River looks like a good prospect for the Little Bay and the Big Fishdam River and the Sturgeon River for Big Bay de Noc."

Due to the limited availability of welding and machine equipment, registrations will be limited to the number of students who can be accommodated by the available equipment, about 12 per section. Two sections for both welding and machine operating courses are planned with each section meeting twice a week for three hours, 7:00 - 10:00 p.m.

Testing of applicants for the occupational training tentatively is scheduled Sept. 15 for potential welders and Sept. 22 for machine operators. Applicants will be notified after Sept. 22 of their acceptance and of details as to class and section arrangement.

He said such programs might encourage development of state bureaucracy as between the local and federal governments.

U. S. Rep. James Harvey, a Republican, said Washington is beginning to favor programs for tax sharing and block grants to states to aid cities.

The old system of specific grants in aid to communities for specific problems is dying, he said.

But Kalamazoo Mayor Raymond Hightower took the opposite position.

to two-story yachts," he said.

The salmon currently are gathering in Lake Michigan between Manistee and Frankfort off the mouths of the Manistee and Platte Rivers, Tody said.

He estimated that over the three-day Labor Day weekend, fishermen in the area caught 4,000 adult salmon and 2,000 younger fish. The adults run 10 to 20 pounds and the young "Jack" salmon average two to three pounds each.

Some 8,000 fishermen made about 19,000 boat trips, he estimated. The weekend haul was estimated at 64,000 pounds of salmon.

Stocks Waver In Early Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market began to show some signs of gathering strength early Friday but the general tone was irregular.

Gains outnumbered losses slightly. The Dow Jones Industrial Average erased an early loss of about a point and moved narrowly into plus territory.

All Big Three auto stocks took fractional losses as Wall Street heard reports that the strike against Ford may last a long time.

Rubbers edged higher. Rails and oils were mixed. Airlines were mostly lower.

Safety 'Musts' Listed By Chief

Walk and ride safely and help save a life, Escanaba Police Chief pleaded today in a message to school children and parents.

"Now that school is open again we are asking parents to back us in requesting their children to use the sidewalks — don't walk in the streets," he said. "Children, all of us for that matter, should use the crosswalks and pay attention to and obey the guards."

There's another problem at this time of year: The family dog. Don't take him to school, the police chief warned.

Park those bicycles in the places supplied for them at the school, and keep them locked so they will not be stolen, the chief continued.

"And in riding those bikes, follow the rules of safety. Parents and youngsters may obtain copies of the safety rules at the police station. The rules include:

"Stop at all stop and go signs; ride in a straight line; have the proper lights and horn or bell on the bike; and never ride double on a bike at any time," the chief said.

Briefly Told

The Promenaders Square Dance Club will dance at 8:30 p. m. Saturday at Bay de Noc Community College. Dancers are asked to use the south entrance. Caller will be Chuck Jones of K. I. Sawyer AFB.

Escanaba police have issued traffic court summonses to Robert G. Peterson, 208 S. 19th St., no tail lights. Ernest C. Dillabough, 419 Delta Ave., Gladsome, excessive motor noise and no proof of insurance; James E. Bouty, Spalding, excessive motor noise; Paul E. Peterson, Escanaba, speeding James E. Englund, Bark River, 1st speeding; and Corinne A. Sylvester, Escanaba, 1st, failing to yield the right of way.

Escanaba police report that a car owned by Richard Freeman, Escanaba, Rte. 1, struck the median strip at Sylvan Point on M-25 at 1:30 a. m. today and damaged the auto. Details of the accident were not immediately available.

Michigan law requires that there be 180 attendance days, she noted, however, and the teachers' union intended to teach less than 180 days regardless of when school starts.

Under the law, any district failing to maintain a 180-day school loses 1/10th of its state aid for each day under the minimum.

In a move Thursday, the Menominee teachers' formed a "Committee to Open the Menominee Public Schools" to solicit contributions from individual, business and industry. Money raised will be turned over to school district's general fund to be used as the Board of Education sees fit.

27 Districts Out
Throughout the state, the Associated Press reported that nearly a half million Michigan youngsters are still out of school as a result of disputes between teachers and boards of education.

Board, Teachers Break Off Talks At Menominee

MENOMINEE—About 3,000 students of the Menominee public schools remained on extended summer vacation today as a deadlock between the Board of Education and teachers of the district continued.

Negotiations on a new contract for 120 teachers of the district broke off at midnight Wednesday and no further meetings have been scheduled. Classes were scheduled to begin Tuesday, but teachers have refused to work without a contract.

The football coaching staff, however, has returned to the gridiron without salary pending a settlement and the football game between Menominee and Escanaba at Escanaba Saturday will be played as scheduled.

"There are several unresolved items, both economic and non-economic separating the Menominee City District Education Association and the school board in attempts to reach an agreement," said James White, attorney for the Michigan Education Association and chief negotiator for the Menominee teachers. "We are approximately $30,000 apart on economic terms."

Talks Break
Negotiations broke off after Carl York, mediator for the Michigan Labor Mediation board from Rapid River, left and returned home. He said he would remain in touch with the parties involved.

Edward Kuch Jr., president of the Board of Education, said the school board has made many concessions, but these concessions "have not resulted in any apparent progress in negotiations. The teachers have not moved in any respect from their demands."

Prof. Stephen Youngs of Saint Ste. Marie, who acted as a fact-finder between the parties, said the $5,700 base salary demanded by the teachers "is probably more in line with other teachers' salaries but it would cause a deficit of $136,972. Under the circumstances, the base pay of $5,500 (the board's proposal) would be more in line with the board's ability to pay."

Mrs. Irene Lovig, president of the Menominee City Education Association, reaffirmed the association position that the teachers will not work without a contract.
